47370	47382	BCBST	The edited code is redundant to the listed code to account for a percutaneous attempt at tumor ablation subsequently converted to a laparoscopic procedure. When a percutaneous approach is attempted and fails and a laparoscopic approach is necessary, only the successful approach is allowed.
47370	47560	BCBST	The edited code is redundant to the listed code to account for a laparoscopic case converted to an open procedure. When a laparoscopic service is attempted and fails and another surgical service is necessary, only the successful service is allowed. Note that it may be appropriate to reimburse the edited laparoscopy if it represents a distinct diagnostic service prior to the open surgical service and the decision to perform surgery was made on the basis of the laparoscopy, or if it represents a separate surgical procedure sufficiently unrelated to the open procedure and requiring significant additional work.

49904	37202	BCBST	The edited code is a component of the listed code if used to report minor anesthesia or infusion services provided as part of the listed procedure or according to surgical package instructions. Similar listed codes with edit disallowed according to NCCI Misuse of Column 2 code with Column 1 code policy, which indicates that a provider should not report a CPT code out of the context for which it was intended. Note, however, that it may be appropriate to reimburse this procedure if it is performed for indicated purposes separately from the comprehensive procedure.

49904	44680	BCBST	Clinically unlikely code combination or component. Review before reimbursing the edited code. Experience has demonstrated that the edited code is often reported inappropriately in circumstances when the procedure was not performed, not medically indicated, or required minimal additional effort.
49904	44850	BCBST	The edited procedure involves only incidental additional work when performed with the listed procedure. Similar listed codes with edit disallowed according to NCCI CPT separate procedure definition.
49904	44950	BCBST	As per CPT guidelines, incidental appendectomy during intra-abdominal surgery does not usually warrant a separate identification. Experience has demonstrated that the edited code is often reported inappropriately in circumstances when the procedure was not medically indicated or required minimal additional effort. If medically indicated, appendectomy done at the time of another major procedure may be reported with code 44955.
49904	47100	BCBST	Clinically unlikely code combination or component. Review before reimbursing the edited code.
49904	49000	BCBST	When any open abdominal procedure is performed, an exploration of the surgical field is routinely performed to identify anatomic structures or any anomalies that may be present. Accordingly, the edited code should not be used to report these exploratory services which are included in the listed procedure.
49904	49255	BCBST	This is a separate procedure by definition and when it is performed as a component of a more extensive procedure, it should not be additionally reported. This code should not be used to report incidental omentum resection along with the surgical specimen. Experience has demonstrated that the edited code is often reported inappropriately in circumstances when the procedure was not performed, not medically indicated, or required minimal additional effort.
49904	49904	BCBST	This procedure can only be performed once on a patient, or is typically only performed more than once in unusual circumstances.

49904	58740	BCBST	Generic services integral to standard of medical/surgical services include lysis of simple adhesions. This code may be appropriate to reimburse in unusual clinical circumstances if review indicates that extensive adhesions were present and that an open lysis of adhesions was performed involving significant additional work.
